WHEELER'S SPEECH

BIDDING FOR REFUGEES.

It May Figure in the House Discussions This Week.

Drastic Rule Adopted to Force the Revenue Bill Through This Week.

WASHINGTON NOTES OF INTEREST

Washington, Feb. 17.—The coming week promises to be one of unusual activity in the house of representatives. Today the war revenue reduction bill will be taken up, with two day for debate, and a stringent special rule bringing the bill to a vote at 3 p.m. on Tuesday, without intervening motion to reconsider or amendments other than those of a verbal character proposed by the committee. When the debate proper begins there will hardly be more than three hours on each side. This time will be given to the members of the ways and means committee, who in turn will apportion it among their colleagues.

The passage of the bill is a foregone conclusion, and as the minority members as well as the majority favor it, the only difference being as to the amount of reduction and the extent to which tariff changes should go.

Aside from the tariff issue, it would be no surprise if the sensational speech of Representative Wheeler of Kentucky on Prince Henry's visit and other foreign matters figures in the discussion as much feeling has been aroused by the speech.

The Indian appropriation bill will be taken up on Wednesday with two other appropriation bills, the diplomatic and consular and the postoffice to reserve.

There are several important measures of general legislation now ready for consideration, including the anti-slavery bill, and the Pacific cable bill. The intention, however, is not to consider these general measures so long as any appropriation bills remain unacted on.

SURPRISE MARRIAGE.

MR. JOHN POTTER OF PADUCAH, AND MISS ADELL LA GUIGRE OF SHARON, MARRIED LAST NIGHT.

Mr. John Potter, the eldest son of Cornelius J. E. Potter, and Miss Adele La Guigre, of Sharon, Tenn., were joined there shortly after 10 o'clock this morning by Senators Allison, Aldrich and Spooner, Speaker Henderson and Representatives Cannon and Groveson and the conference lasted until a few minutes after 12.

It is something of a coincidence that those at the conference today were, with the exception of the president himself, and Senator Spooner, the same men who took part in the famous conference a few weeks prior to the Spanish war, which resulted in the definite conclusion that congress should appropriate $50,000,000 to be placed at the disposal of the president to prepare for war.

Not since that momentous occasion until today have the same men been formally summoned for a conference at the White House.

ADMIRAL EVANS AS HOST

GERMAN ADMIRAL PRAISES IN HIS PRAISES OF AMERICAN SHIPBUILDERS.

New York, Feb. 17.—Admiral von Brandenstein, of the Hohenlohe, made his official call on Rear Admiral Robert D. Evans this afternoon, shortly after the latter had raised his flag on the battleship Illinois, off Tompkinsville. The German admiral had such a good time on the Illinois and was so interested in looking the great ship over that he stayed more than an hour, which is something quite unusual in the official calling line. The formalities of most official calls are over in a very few minutes, and the caller generally loses no time in taking his departure. In this case the German admiral threw formalities overboard and not only split a bottle of wine with Admiral Evans, but, after making a tour of the battleship from stem to stern, he made glad the heart of her commander by declaring that she was one of the finest products of marine engineering he had ever seen.

Admiral von Brandenstein was up a salute of thirteen guns, and personally conducted Evans through the ship. The German was the first American that he had ever seen.

CLEANS THEM OUT

Chili's Offer to Defeated Boers Not Favored.

Texas and New Mexico Regarded as Better Adapted to the Vanquished Burghers.

London, Feb. 17.—Chili's proposal to the Boers to settle in Chili has led to some decision in London as to the possibility of a considerable migration of the burghers after the contest of the two republics is complete. No doubt many of them will prefer to leave South Africa in view of the altered political conditions. Sentimental considerations such as might affect them would be outweighed. It is thought, by dislike to live under the rule of their conquerors.

Emigration to Chili, however, is not regarded as probable on a large scale. It is urged that the Boers, having Teatonic, would not get on well with the Latin-Indian type which holds the field in South America. The Chilean soil and climate, which resembles those of Switzerland, would not be congenial to the burghers. In view of the fact that the Boers are ranchmen, rather than farmers, many of their friends here think that if they decide to leave their native land the best alternative would be Texas or New Mexico.

CHEST CRUSHED.

Colored Employee of the Paducah Coal & Mining Co., Injured.

Caught Between Car and Shed and Badly But Not Fatally Injured.

Frank Meacham, a colored employee of the Paducah Coal and Mining company at the coal warehouse, corner of Second and Ohio streets, narrowly escaped death this morning while at work on the tracks.

The company has several cars in use at the warehouse to transfer the coal from the barges to the house and two negroes are used as the motive power to each car. The cars are small but hold many bushels of coal and one of these torn over on the man this morning about 8 o'clock and mashed him between the car and a small shed at the rear of the building. His chest was badly crushed and he could hardly draw a breath. His comrade extricated him from between the car and shed and carried him to the office where Dr. Robertson was called. The injured man was taken to his home and his injuries dressed. He is in a serious condition but the injury is not considered fatal. Meacham did not lose consciousness.

Mr. John Potter, the eldest son of Cornelius J. E. Potter, and Miss Adele La Guigre, of Sharon, Tenn., were joined there shortly after 10 o'clock this morning by Senators Allison, Aldrich and Spooner, Speaker Henderson and Representatives Cannon and Groveson and the conference lasted until a few minutes after 12.

DAILY THOUGHT.

"Be not afraid of life; be afraid only of whatever belittles or narrows life."

THE VOTING SYSTEM.

It may be that the politicians of Frankfort desire a restoration of the viva voce manner of voting, likewise the Gobbelites and those who are behind them; but in considering the proposed amendment to have the question submitted to a vote of the people, it will be well to find out just how sincerely these politicians want such an amendment. If the Democrats desire to return to the viva voce system of voting, then there must be some advantage in sight for them—some greater advantage than they have in a secret ballot with an unfair count.

To charge them with desiring to return to the old way because it is fair would be preposterous; just as it would be to charge any of the Gobbel gang with desiring to be fair. As it stands at present, the Democrats can still count out any system they choose, and this is about all that is necessary—unless they can find some unfair means, and that is the viva voce way of doing it.

It might be said here that as the Gobbel law elections are in Kentucky, there are few who desire to return to the old viva voce way. The merchant does not want it, because he does not desire to have his business jeopardized by his vote. The workingman or clerk or other employe does not want it, because he would then be at the mercy of his employer, and would have to vote as he dictated. He would no longer control his own vote. He would become a mere tool.

The Democratic politicians and newspapers may want this viva voce system, but they will never get it, for it would require a constitutional amendment to return to the antiquated way of voting, and the people will never sanction it by their vote.

Yet the Gobbelite legislature may pass the bill—if it passes any bill. It has consumed over half of its allotted time, and there have been only two bills passed, with six hundred and over to work on. If the Gobbelite legislature passes the viva voce bill, however, it will not be through a desire to get a fair way to vote. The Gobbelites have never been imbued with the laudable desire to do anything so out of keeping with their true character. And if they are satisfied with the present election methods, which they ought to be, for the Republicans are not, and are supporting this viva voce business as a bluff, what is their game? Perhaps it is simply to have a vote taken on whether the people are satisfied with the present way of voting and the present Democratic method of counting it, or whether they want some other way. If the proposition to amend the charter by going back to the viva voce system is carried which it probably wouldn't be, Democrats would count it out just the same, and then accomplish their object of claiming that Gobbel has been vindicated, and the people by their votes have decided that they are satisfied with it, and it is what they want. This they will use as a basis for further abuse of the Republican party and this is one of the paramount objects of their existence at present.

The decision of President Roosevelt in the Gobbel appeal will probably be ready this week some time. It is claimed by the Washington correspondents that the decision will try to satisfy both sides, and will be that the question of the conduct of Rear Admiral Gobbel during his independent command is not to be considered, inasmuch as any faults that then occurred were condoned by his predecessor, and inasmuch as Rear Admiral Gobbel was not relieved of his command that the question of command during the battle of Santiago was settled by the courts, which held Admiral Sampson to have been in command, and that the battle was vigorously fought in accordance with plans previously arranged, except in the case of the Brooklyn's loop, which gave the Spanish ships the opportunity to get through. The fact that the Brooklyn received a heavier fire than the New York gives the Brooklyn no especial credit. These are the conclusions said to have been reached by the president but of course, until the verdict is formally announced it is impossible to be honestly certain about them. The Washington star says of the probable verdict: "The statement can be made with perfect safety that the president's conclusions will not be such as to cause jubilation among the partisans of either of the rearadmirals who are contending regarding the victory, but will be satisfactory to the public, the vast majority of people who believe in fair play. At least that is the opinion of those who know what the president intends to do."

Congressman Wheeler, like the great showman, Barnum, believes in publicity, his little farce the other day gave him more free advertising than hundreds of dollars would purchase. Mr. Wheeler was playing to the galleries and Bryantsite Democracy, and seems to have succeeded in getting what he wanted. His remarks were very indiscreet, but what does the average Democratic congressman care for discretion, as compared to publicity. As Mr. Wheeler is not a candidate for any office, and declares he is out of politics for all time to come, what difference does it make to him? Barnum once said to a reporter: "If you can't say something good about my show, say something," evidently Mr. Wheeler has the same idea of advertising. Many newspaper editors have written columns of criticism of his speech who never knew there was such a man in congress. Others who never say anything good of him, and regret to have his name appear in their paper, have advertised his far and wide. He has succeeded in getting his name in the papers of two continents and has received the applause of the Bryantsite Democracy, and so doubt he feels satisfied with having worked the whole job off, and it only cost him thirty minutes of demagoguery.

The "bitter element" seems to be dying hard. Its antics remind one of a chicken with its head cut off, flapping aimlessly about trying to get its bearings. They have had four weeks in which to recover from their ignominious defeat at Washington, but it seems to be still grabbing at straws. The president's appointment of postmaster in Paducah will stand, and however, it will not be through a desire to get a fair way to vote. The Gobbelites have never been imbued with the laudable desire to do anything so out of keeping with their true character. And if they are satisfied with the present election methods, which they ought to be, for the Republicans are not, and are supporting this viva voce business as a bluff, what is their game? Perhaps it is simply to have a vote taken on whether the people are satisfied with the present way of voting and the present Democratic method of counting it, or whether they want some other way.

If the proposition to amend the charter by going back to the viva voce system is carried which it probably wouldn't be, Democrats would count it out just the same, and then accomplish their object of claiming that Gobbel has been vindicated, and the people by their votes have decided

WIFE DIED.

PATIENT IN THE L. C. HOSPITAL CALLED HOME BY DEATH OF HIS WIFE.

Dr. Dillon, of the Illinois Central hospital, received a telegram from St. Charles, Ky., yesterday saying that the wife of Mr. John Menier, a patient in the hospital, had suddenly died and to send her husband home to take charge of the remains.

Menier was not apprised of the fact that his wife had died but was told she was seriously ill. He returned home this morning.

Menier was struck by an engine at St. Charles about one week ago and has improved sufficiently to return home however.

THE ELKS.

MEETING TONIGHT TO DISCUSS CARNIVAL MATTERS.

A big Chicago firm, dealing in carnival decorations, has submitted a plan to the Elks to span Broadway with big arches during the carnival. The proposition will be discussed at the meeting of the committee tonight. The firm proposes to place a big arch at First and Broadway, one at Fifth and Broadway and another at Ninth and Broadway. Other important matters relative to the carnival will be discussed at the meeting.

INCORPORATED.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION FILED BY THE FAMOUS PANTS CO.—OTHER NOTES.

This morning articles of incorporation of the Famous Pants factory were filed. The capital stock of the company is $30,000, divided into $100 shares. Messrs. Bon, Charles and James Weill and Mr. L. S. Levy are the stockholders, each holding forty shares. The company will begin business on the first day of March, 1902 and outlast the officers of the incorporation will be elected.

CURLEY'S FUNERAL.

The fine bulldog of Mr. Al Wicks, of the Palmer house, was electrocuted Saturday in a peculiar manner. The animal was chasing a cat about the rear of the building when the pug jumped upon the motor of the elevator, used in hoisting baggage in the rear of the hotel, the dog followed. As the canine jumped on the motor the elevator was started and the animal received a shock that killed it instantly. It had the reputation of being the best fighter in the city and was highly prized by its owner.

The funeral of "Curley," the city hall mascot, was held in the court room of the city hall yesterday afternoon the services being conducted by ex-Marshal James Collins. There was good attendance of the police officers and several city officials. "Curley" was shot Thursday as he was nearly dead and had become a nuisance about the hall. The city hall bell was tolled during the services.

Mr. Will Yancy, of the county, is mourning the loss of his fine $100 bird dog which died last week.

LIMB BROKEN.

Rachel Johnson, colored, at Seventh and Ohio streets, met with a serious accident Saturday night at Sixth and Broadway, and is laid up with a badly fractured leg as a result.

She was crossing Broadway, and stepped into a small depression of the ground which was hidden by the snow. In attempting to catch herself and prevent a fall, her foot slipped and she was thrown to the ground.

"Yes, my father is at home this evening." Where is he?

Observations
...at Random

"Squire Barker used to be a practical joker, and in several instances paid dearly for his jokes, or rather his father paid dearly for them. He used to be in the tobacco business, and had a negro working for him who was very much afraid of spiders and other insects of a poisonous nature. The darky was down in a hoghead of tobacco packing it for shipment one day, when 'Squire Barker came up and hung an imitation spider down in front of the darky's face. The man in the hoghead gave one scream and jumped up, striking his head against the big screw above that is used in packing the leaf in the hoghead. He remained unconscious for over an hour, and scared the joker nearly out of his wits.

Another joke, and one that his father had to stand for, was perpetrated on a peddler. The peddler had a good horse, and would come to town and put up for a week's stay. The boys did not like him, and got their heads together to plan his undoing. They cut off the mane and tail of the peddler's horse, and then, not contented with this, 'Squire Barker procured some paint and decorated the animal to resemble a zebra. The paint killed the horse, and the 'Squire's father had to stand the cost. One to look at the dignified magistrate now would never suspect that he was such an incorrigible joker.

A small boy who is a regular spectator at The Kentucky, and is now thirteen years old, and a son of a prominent official, caused his father much fright several nights ago by his antics. The little fellow has seen great many of the finer attractions that have come to the city this season, and has been seized by the stage fever. Several nights ago, when a heavy tragedy show was produced here, the little fellow was much struck with one of the characters, a heavy villain and sword fighter, and the character seemed to run through his head continuously. At home several nights later his father was standing by the mantel reading a newspaper and smoking when his son entered. The boy stood at the door for a short time crouched in a threatening attitude, and, unsuspecting parent wondering why he did not come nearer the fire looked around to see what had happened. As soon as the father had turned his head the boy made a cat-like spring, and in a tone of profound pathos, which increased to an ominous growl, informed the old man that his time had come."

"Now that we are at last face to face, I say to you, your time has come, and you must prepare for the worst." And he lunged. Then he rushed on his father.

By this time the "old gent" had concluded that the unfeeling thing to do was in retreat, and therefore retreated to the corner of the room, his son following all the time. When the performance was finished and the old gentleman's nerves calmed, he picked the Balky Stomachs.

They Show No Structural Defects, Exhibit No Evidence of Real Disease—Because they Are Fagged, Lazy or Contrary, They Won't Work.

Food lies in them for Hours, Decomposing, Rotting, Fermenting, Forming Noxious Compounds, that Poison the System, and Gvortz those Organs that Have to Eliminate It, Instead of Nutritious Chyle that will Enrich the Blood so it May Feed the Various Tissues and Structures of the Body.

When the stomach won't work the "Your dyspepsia cure has worked wonders in my case. I suffered for years from dyspepsia but am now entirely cured and enjoy life as I never before have. I gladly recommend them."

Mrs. Lydia Bartram, of Aspinwall, Mich., writes: "I suffered from stomach trouble for ten years and five different doctors gave me only temporary relief. A Mr. E. B. Pege advised me to try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and four boxes did me more permanent benefit than all the doctors' medications that I have ever taken."

Rev. J. R. Hoag, of Wyoming, N. J., writes: "For six years I have been troubled with dyspepsia. Last fall I became very much alarmed at some symptoms of heart trouble and came to believe there was a sympathetic relation between the two diseases, or rather, that the stomach trouble was the heart disturbance. I hit upon Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets for a remedy and invested a dollar and a half for three boxes which lasted me three months and I can eat any kind of food I want and have a good vigorous appetite. Although I am seventy years old, I now feel perfectly well and without being requested by anyone I make this statement as a compliment to the virtues of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets."

Henry Kirkpatrick, of Lawrence, Mass., says: "Men and women whose occupations provide a sedentary, out-door life should make it a daily practice to use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals. I have done so myself and know positively that I owe my regular health and vigor to their daily use. From the time I was 22 when I graduated from school with broken health from overwork until I was 34, I scarcely know what it was to be free from stomach weakness. I had no appetite whatever for breakfast and very little for any other meal. I had a sedentary and heartburn nearly every day and sometimes was alarmed by irregularity and palpitation of the heart, but all this gradually disappeared after I began using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and I can eat my meals with relish and satisfaction which I had not known since I was a growing boy."

If your stomach won't work, try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and be convinced of their merits. All drug-gists sell them at 50c a box. Once use them and you will become their advocate and friend.

Benefits of the Felt Cure.
While we may frown upon and smile at the undue zeal of the fistic propaganda, we may as well acknowledge that they have had real or are taking a proper place in the social evolution, and that the world may yet have to thank them for having loosened the hold of the drug cure upon mankind when it was at its worst stage.—Washington Post.
